

Benefit-led prioritisation

3 hour masterclass 4pm—7pm

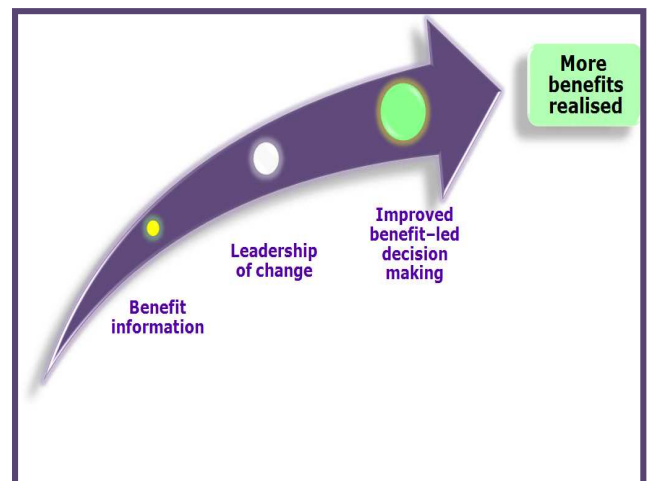

Making decisions on resourcing priorities is difficult at all levels. It is even more challenging to ensure that strategic priorities are understood and implemented consistently throughout your organisation. For some organisations sophisticated prioritisation processes are business-critical, for others disciplined simplicity is more appropriate. Which is best for your organisation? If you are not clear—or don't know the best way to achieve it, this session has been designed to help.

Benefits of attending

An experienced benefits practitioner facilitates gallery presentations, table top exercises and discussions with your peers from other organisations. The session will help you outline a clear vision of the appropriate future prioritisation processes in your organisation.

In particular to

- describe your prioritisation processes in terms of the decision making needs of the organisation.
- decide which of the principal tools determining 'benefit delivery confidence' are being utilised in your organisation—and which you should aspire to use.
- prioritise actions to create immediate improvements in quality and consistency of prioritisation, whilst also planning for the future

Who should attend ?

- Portfolio Managers
- Senior Programme Managers
- Leaders of Measurement and Reporting
